

Most of the state is powered by GA Power, A Southern Company. It's technically a monopoly regulated by...

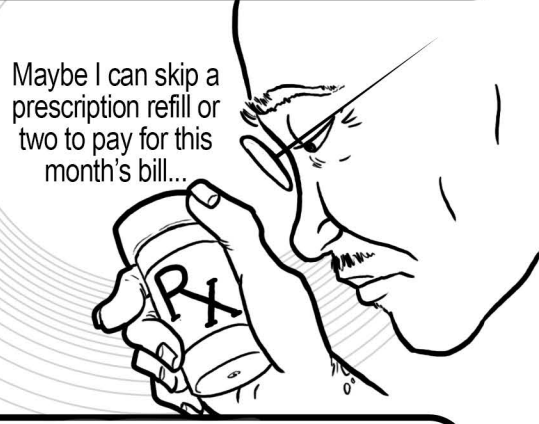

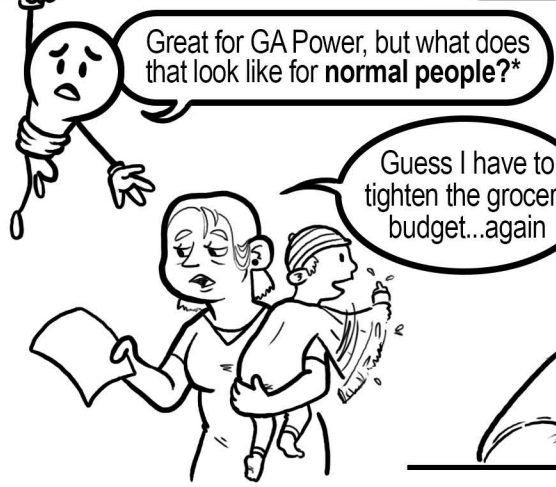

Ga Power Southern Company

the Public Service Commission, or the PSC. This is a group of 5 government officials who judge whether power rates for the public are fair or not.

But since 2019 the PSC has been approving rate hike, after rate hike, after rate hike. And people feel the squeeze even if they haven't been using more energy at home. How bad is it?

You pay GA Power so that they maintain the power grid for profit. Other power companies across the U.S. make 8.5% profits on average. This keeps power affordable for households. GA Power's profits have recently been in the double digits, up to 14.9%!

*From 2023-2025 over 3,000 Georgians voiced their concerns to the PSC and were ignored

The PSC promised to freeze high rates until 2028, but experts predict they'll raise rates anyway as early as this summer.
How's that fair?

Every commissioner that voted for these hikes received money from Southern Company, GA Power's parent company.

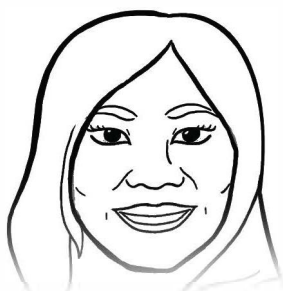

They don't care about rates that won't affect them!

But now you can turn the tides with the elections. Last year the public ousted Tim Echols and Fitz Johnson, who aren't even GA Power customers but kept approving the rate hikes.

Let's look at their replacements and who wants to earn your vote this November

Shelia Edwards

Wants to make utilities affordable for citizens & put
"People before profits"
Running for a seat this Nov

Dr. Alicia M. Johnson

Elected in 2025
Started in 2026
Champion for fair rates & lifelong community advocate
Serves until Dec 2030

Peter Hubbard

Elected in 2025
Started in 2026
Expert on affordable renewable energy
Running for re-election in Nov 2026

Georgians pay the highest energy bills in the country but voting for a better PSC in this Primary is an easy first step to change that.

Let's work toward a brighter future!

Take our survey

Check your voter status and polling locations

Come to the People's Movement Assembly

Canvass with us

(each option can be clicked)